DEATH OF MRS. HAYNES.

Death relieved the suffering of Mrs. A. J. Haynes Tuesday evening at eight o'clock after an illness of only a few days. Mrs. Haynes was born October 8, 1834, and had she lived only two more days, she would have reached the ripe age of eighty years. Ten children remain to mourn her departing and they are Mrs. Bob Prather, Mrs. Warren Prather, Mrs. Ida Knott, Mrs. Lumen Payne of Colorado; and S. P. Norton, J. B. Norton, H. H. Norton, R. S. Norton, E. F. Norton, C. A. Norton of Colorado, also several grand children and great-grand children. Rev. C. J. Bolton, of West Point, delivered a most beautiful and touching sermon to the large congregation that had assembled to pay a last tribute to the deceased.

While the hearts and home are so lonely without her presence, God knows which key of the human heart to touch to bring forth the sweetest strains, and if perchance should be one strain of sadness and sorrow, grieve not, for after a while we shall know and understand why this sorrow has been sent to us.

HON. D. H. KINCHELOE

Addresses a Large Crowd at Hardinsburg Monday--Introduced By Dr. Milton Board.

TRIBUTE TO MR. STANLEY.

The court house was crowded to overflowing last Monday to hear a speech from Hon. D. H. Kincheloe, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Second District.

Mr. Kincheloe was assigned to speak here by the Democratic State Committee, and everybody was charmed with his masterly discourse. Mr. Kincheloe was introduced in a short speech by Dr. Milton Board.

From the speaker's reputation as a Democrat, it was apparent that he was amply able to handle his subject from a Democratic standpoint.

Mr. Kincheloe devoted much time to a discussion of the tariff—a subject with which he was perfectly familiar. He said that the first tariff instituted in this country was put into a law by the Democratic party, and the purpose of it was to raise a revenue for the support of the Government and no other idea was thought of in its inception. But when the Republican party got into power they went into partnership with the trusts and manufacturers. Then it was that they not only got enough to run the expenses of the Government, but they built up great manufacturing interests, and out of this grew the trusts.

He said the Republican tariff was a prohibitory measure, and was not a law for the benefit of the people. Mr. Kincheloe produced facts and figures to show that the Democrats under the Underwood bill had revised the tariff in such a way that the people of this country would save many thousands of dollars in the purchasing of the necessities of life.

Referring to Woodrow Wilson, he spoke of him as the "Peace President"—a man who was doing more for the people of this country than any man who had occupied the Presidential chair. He urged Democrats to stand by the nominees—Bekham, Camden and Ben Johnson.

Mr. Kincheloe referred to the loyalty of A. O. Stanley, who was defeated by Mr. Beckham for the nomination for the United States Senate, and said that Mr. Stanley was making speeches and doing all he could for the election of Mr. Beckham, and he felt sure that Mr. Stanley's friends in this county would do the same.

Altogether Mr. Kincheloe made a great speech, and was roundly applauded at the close.

HAD A GOOD SALE.

W. C. Barnes, of Garfield, who put on a special sale at his store last week, says he had splendid success with it. He remarked that his advertising in "The Breckenridge News" made the day.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The colored teachers of Breckenridge, Meade and Hancock met in their annual institute work at Hardinsburg Monday, September 21, with eighteen teachers present. This was, as is the usual custom, a joint session. Prof. W. O. Nuckolls, of Hardinsburg, was the instructor, and gave to the teachers during the week some very interesting and practical work. One very noticeable and commendable feature of the week's work was that no teacher ever offered an excuse or failed to respond when work was assigned them.

On Wednesday night the Rev. H. H. Hinton, of Hawesville, lectured at the colored church, and on Thursday night the Institute gave an entertainment at the church. The work of both nights was well given and showed much thought and preparation. In fact the entire week's work was a credit to all who took part in rendering the program. A copy of the resolutions of the Institute are as follows:

Whereas, We, the members of the Breckenridge, Hancock and Meade Counties Institute have enjoyed the kind hospitality of the people of the city of Hardinsburg, and that they have shown their interest in us both by attendance in our service as well as furnishing us wholesome entertainment. Therefore be it,

Resolved, That we extend to them our heartfelt thanks for their kindness toward us. Whereas we have had a scarcity of teachers, especially from Meade county, as well as from Breckenridge. Therefore be it,

Resolved, That we ask the Superintendents to see to it that the teachers shall be more punctual. In as much as there had been a scarcity of teachers and preachers at the State Teachers' Association, which has its meeting in April, therefore be it,

Resolved, That we manifest a greater interest in this body by giving our presence in April, 1915. Also be it,

Resolved, That we, the teachers of the Institute, highly appreciate the instructions of our superintendent, J. W. Trent, and shall forever reverence his name with glory and honor. We also give the same honor to our most worthy instructor, Prof. W. O. Nuckolls.

Whereas our ranks have been broken by the death of Miss Mollie Woods, who was one of our beloved teachers, therefore be it,

Resolved, That we bow in submission to the will of Almighty God and show our acknowledgment of His divine power by a few moments silent supplication.

Rev. H. H. Hinton,
Mrs. Mary Henry,
Helen Nuckolls,
Committee.

"Double Springs."

"Double Springs," the home of Col. Bate Washington and Mrs. Washington, has been in his family since the year of 1820, when his grandfather, Mr. James S. Bate, bought the land from the government. Col. Washington succeeded his mother in the ownership of the place. Stories have been handed down that this was a favorite camping ground for the Indians on account of the springs. Even now their flint spikes and arrows are frequently found when plowing in the fertile fields around "Double Springs."
